

The Staff Educator

The Staff Educator 2008 index

Communication

- Improve active listening with this game-based strategy. May, p. 5.
- Raise the curtain on new training strategies: How a Virginia school uses techniques from theater to build nursing relationships. April, p. 6.
- Step up nurse-patient interactions: Improve patient safety and satisfaction through effective communication. Sept., p. 5.

Competency corner

- Acting as a change agent. June, p. 8.
- Applying adult learning theories. July, p. 8.
- Communicating with all members of an institution. Nov., p. 8.
- Cultivating a class curriculum. Aug., p. 8.
- Encourages team-building. April, p. 8.
- Evaluates effectiveness and outcomes of educational endeavors. March, p. 8.
- Facilitates effective focus groups. May, p. 8.
- Mentoring and developing competence in peer review. Dec., p. 8.
- Promotes lifelong learning. Oct., p. 8.
- Remaining flexible while managing a busy schedule. Sept., p. 8.

Documentation

- Recognize the red flags in nursing documentation. Feb., p. 7.

Infection control/patient safety

- Improve patient safety through peer review. March, p. 7.
- Keep staff members safe with a safety orientation. March, p. 4.
- Prevent catheter UTIs with practical measures. March, p. 1.
- Prevent MRSA hysteria with simple training: Best practices for keeping your staff members, patients safe. Jan., p. 3.

- Take a big step toward falls prevention. Feb., p. 1.
- Train staff members to perform competency assessments. June, p. 7.

Leadership

- How to groom tomorrow's strong nurse leaders. May, p. 3.
- Project management pointers to develop staff leaders: A Florida educator helps students become effective planners. July, p. 5.
- Selecting, training, and sustaining the charge nurse. Oct., p. 7.

On call: Sitting down for a conversation with ...

- Kathi Haberman, RN, MS, education manager at Worthington (MN) Regional Hospital. Feb. p. 8.
- Susan Gumm, RN, C, staff development specialist and training center coordinator at Mercy Medical Center in Merced, CA. Jan., p. 8.

Orientation and program development

- Crunching numbers for orientation: Determine program costs using EBP. Sept., p. 7.
- Match new nurses with the right job: A Florida hospital puts educators at the forefront of new-graduate placement. Nov., p. 6.
- Tips for planning orientation and inservice education at your facility. Aug., p. 4.

Patient care

- The art of nursing: Build staff members' assessment skills with a museum partnership. Dec., p. 4.
- Cultural competence for the diverse population: Help your nurses ask the right questions at the bedside. Oct., p. 1.
- When your patients are seeing red: Tips for dealing with anger at your facility. Jan., p. 4.

Preceptorships

- Expert strategies for successful precepting: Beware of generational differences, characteristics, and red flags. Dec., p. 1.
- Rewarding your gatekeepers: Increase preceptor job satisfaction with recognition and rewards. Aug., p. 1.

Regulatory compliance

- Prep your nurses for Joint Commission surveyors: A Rhode Island hospital shares creative strategies from its multifaceted program. Oct., p. 3.
- Prepare your nurses for POA conditions. Aug., p. 7.

Retention/staff appreciation/satisfaction

- Celebrate nurses without breaking the bank: Cost-effective strategies for nurse retention and recognition. Dec., p. 5.
- Helping new grads adjust to the nursing world: A Washington hospital establishes a successful mentoring program. Jan., p. 1.
- Keep your nurses calm and collected: Stress management tips for your students (and yourself). July, p. 3.
- Provide effective feedback to your nurses: Strategies for improving job performance and increasing confidence. Nov., p. 3.
- Recognize, reward, and retain at your organization. June, p. 5.
- Retaining the wisdom of the mature educator: Practical steps to keep experienced staff educators in the work force. Aug., p. 5.
- Start them on the journey from Day 1: Models and strategies for building your orientation around the 14 Forces of Magnetism. April, p. 3.

Staff competence

- Surviving skill sets with a competency fair. July, p. 1.

Staff motivation/participation

- Filling those empty chairs: Strategies for increasing meeting attendance among your nurses. Jan., p. 6.
- Light a fire under your learners: Improve your training's effectiveness by motivating students. May, p. 7.
- New techniques for relaying info to your staff members. June, p. 4.

Technology

- Educators can embrace new technology to improve patient safety. April, p. 1.
- Science and simulation in the clinical setting. Feb., p. 5.
- Web conferencing: Effective tips and strategies. Oct., p. 6.

Time management

- Switching the channel on mandatory meetings. Feb., p. 4.
- Train your learners about time management: Enhance productivity by helping nurses stay focused, organized. Nov., p. 1.

Training strategies/styles/concepts

- Beyond the color purple: Increase retention with Technicolor. March, p. 5.
- Connecting the dots with concept mapping. June, p. 1.
- Coping with challenging learners: Classroom strategies for handling difficult or disruptive students. Sept., p. 1.
- Pain management: Educate to alleviate. May, p. 1.
- Up, down, or diagonal: Been Listening Bingo rewards students for paying attention and improves learning. Sept., p. 3.